DT's Tunisha Chaudhary caught up with Mr. Mohit Saras for Q&A session

Q1. With years of experience, how do you keep your lessons engaging and exciting for new generations?

I stay curious and constantly adapt to new tools and learning styles. By integrating interactive activities and real-world applications, I keep lessons relevant and engaging for each generation.

*Mr. Mohit Saras
Designation: School Proctor and PGT Informatics Practices*

Q2. What has been the most important lesson you've learned throughout your teaching career?

The biggest lesson I've learned is that students teach us as much as we teach them. Flexibility, empathy, and listening are key to fostering a meaningful learning environment.

Q3. How has your experience teaching Informatics Practices evolved, as the field has transformed over the years?

When I started, technology was basic. Now, it's a fast-paced field. I've adapted by constantly upgrading my skills and introducing new topics like data science and artificial intelligence, preparing students for future careers.

Ghaziabad: Parent Teacher Conference [PTC], was organized on 19th October, in Primary Wing. The PTC also served the purpose of TERM 1 Open House for the academic session 2024- 25. SAMANVAY 2024, the annual art exhibition was also organized on the same day. The Primary Wing at DPSG Meerut Road was abuzz with excitement and fervour as it showcased the handicrafts of students in their myriad hues. The theme of the exhibition was Nature. The precious resources given by nature like soil, leaves, wood, paper, sand, shells, and old furniture and objects were given a new look by crafting and upcycling them. The exhibition was graced by the Chief Guest Mr. Naresh Kumawat (Sculptor), Cultural Ambassador of India and Principal of the school, Captain (Dr.) Dinisha Bhardwaj Singh. The Chief Guest Mr. Naresh Kumawat's presence added immense prestige to the occasion. He commended the efforts of the students and applauded their artistic endeavors. He also emphasized the significance of art in society and its ability to evoke emotions and transcend boundaries. Mr Naresh Kumawat acknowledged the school's dedication to nurturing and fostering artistic talent, encouraging the students to push their boundaries and explore new avenues of creativity.

Honouring Talent: Visionaries supporting artists

Dear Dinisha Ma'am & Suprita Ma'am,

I hope you're doing well. I wanted to take a moment to extend my heartfelt congratulations to you and Suprita Ma'am for the spectacular Samanvay art exhibition. The event was truly a feast for the eyes, with a vibrant display of colors and various beautiful art forms. It was clear that a lot of thought and creativity went into making it such a success.

The students were equally impressive, as they confidently interacted with parents, explained the materials used, and shared information about the art forms with a level of maturity beyond their years. Their hard work was evident, and it made the entire experience even more engaging.

A special mention must go to the performers, who were the true highlights of the day, entertaining the crowd with their energy and talent. The nukkad natak in particular was absolutely outstanding and deserves a standing ovation for its impact and execution.

Additionally, I must congratulate the school on organizing the Dandiya night, which once again showcased the school's commitment to building connections with parents beyond the academic realm. It's inspiring to see how dedicated the school is to fostering these bonds, and it really resonated with all of us.

DT's Lavanya Sethi caught up with Ms. Vani Kapoor for Q&A session

Ms. Vani Kapoor

Q.1 What made you choose a career in teaching?

Teaching has been a calling for me from the beginning. I chose this career because I genuinely believe in the power of education to shape lives and influence future generations. Seeing my students grow, evolve, and blossom into thoughtful individuals brings unparalleled joy and fulfillment.

Q.2 What is your teaching philosophy?

My philosophy has always centered around creating a nurturing, supportive, and engaging environment where students feel safe to explore, question, and learn. I believe in teaching the whole child—fostering both their intellectual growth and emotional development.

Q.3 How did you incorporate technology into your teaching?

In terms of technology, I've seen its transformative power in the classroom over the years. Early on, I embraced tech as a way to enhance lessons and make learning more interactive and engaging. Technology allows me to reach students in a way that aligns with their digital experiences and keeps them curious and engaged.

One of my most memorable quotes is that "you teach, hoping someday you'll get it right." Looking back on your career, do you think you did? As for that memorable quote, "You teach, hoping someday you'll get it right," I feel it reflects the humility that comes with this profession.

A thought for today

"The best and most beautiful things in the world cannot be seen or even touched - they must be felt with the heart."

-HELEN KELLER

The King and The Ring

"I want to hide a message in my ring which I intend to pass on to my successors after my rule. The message must be a short sentence that can be stashed under the diamond of the ring."

All those who listened were very clever, they all could write passages but not short sentences.

They all thought but could not come up with what was needed. The king went to his old servant. The old man said, "I'm not wise, or well educated like the others, Sir, but I know of a message.

The old servant wrote something on a piece of paper and handed it to the king. "Open it only when you have no other choice", he said.

Soon after, the kingdom was invaded and the king started to lose battles. With no other choice, he opened the message inside the ring: "This too shall pass."

As soon as he read the message, he felt a great sense of empowerment. His enemies got lost in the woods and their horses were nowhere to be heard.

The day he got back to his kingdom, he was greeted with a big feast and his happiness was spellbound.

The old servant stood next to him and said, "This moment too, is right for another look at the hidden message."

The king was amused and he replied: "I'm not in a no-option situation, why would I even look at the message?"

The servant said, "Listen to me, sir. This message is relevant both in times of despair and in good times as well."

The king opened the message again:

"This too shall pass."

NATURE

Where these leaves flutters in the gust of winds, is the NATURE where the daffodils tossing their heads in sprightly dars Is the focund company of NATURE.

NATURE is the beauty of the earth! The essential part of life,

It is the existence of HUMANITY
Although there is constant strife.

It purifies and cleanses the mind & soul
Its amazing what nature can bring. *
NATURE is sometimes downgraded by the evils of mankind, But NATURE bring herself back up And she will not be left behind!

There is a pleasure in the greenery
