Book Review

‘The Boy Who Loved’

by Durjoy Dutta

As a passionate reader, I have read an extensive number of books this year. One of my top reads is ‘The Boy Who Loved’ a novel by Durjoy Datta. Set in Delhi, this book follows the diary entries of a 16-year-old Bengali boy, Raghu. Personally, the cultural context made the book more meaningful to me. I found the writing exceptionally crafted, and as I am the same age as the protagonist, I could relate to and empathize with Raghu’s emotions and experiences. Brahmi Sharma, belonging to a conservative Brahman family is my favourite character in the book. Although she wears a beautiful smile, she conceals numerous secrets within. She is compassionate, brave and unafraid of anything, welcoming challenges that come her way. Brahmi is also an excellent student and continually competes with Raghu for the top spot in their class. This novel portrays how everyone faces struggles in their own unique way. People often assume that teenagers lack maturity and do not encounter difficulties in life. However, this book highlights the myriad challenges faced by the two teenagers and emphasises that every minor difficulty faced is significant, even though society may not always acknowledge it. This book teaches us to appreciate the life we lead and that in order to make our existence meaningful, we must strive to achieve all our dreams no matter how insignificant or small.

IBDP: PROJECT RETHINKING PLASTIC- BAS EK KADAM!

In an interview with Shylah Dutta, Cherry Gupta, IBDP Year II learner speaks about her visionary project and more...

How did you come up with this unique project?

I was on my way to the nearby market when I saw a monkey eating something from a plastic bag and end up eating the plastic bag itself. I was concerned and decided to do something about it. I started collecting the disposed plastic bags and used approximately 12 of them along with 2 plastic sacks to make this unique biodegradable bag which can be put to multiple uses.

Redefining sustainability with biodegradable bags and the 4 R's

Do you think your idea can contribute in meeting global environmental issues?

As an IB learner, we are groomed to become international-minded individuals. Based on the same principle, my idea revolves around the 4 R’s Reducing, Reusing, Recycling and Recovering which manifest environmentally responsible behaviour. I hope that my initiative will make people aware of the hazards of plastic pollution which is a major environmental issue the world faces in the present times.

What is your message to the learners of today?

I would like to encourage them to take cognizance of the environmental issues plaguing the world and take steps to resolve them. There is no dearth of talent. Infact, what is needed is initiative, an idea that has the potential to bring about a change in the mindset. Everything starts with a small step. Bas ek kadam!

IB PYP

DT's Sachnoor Kaur caught up with PYP Facilitator, Ms Puja Dua for a Q&A session.

Excerpts:

What do you like the most about implementing the IBPYP Program?

“Tell Me and I Forget, Teach me and I remember, Involve me and I Learn.” I believe this famous adage perfectly encapsulates the essence of the IB PYP Programme and resonates strongly with my belief. It empowers me as an educator to create a learning environment that is meaningful, relevant, and inclusive for every student in my classroom.

What makes students successful in your class?

Students' success in my class is the result of engaging and inclusive classroom environment. My learners feel safe, valued, and excited about coming to class.

What role do you see parents or peers playing in student success?

Parents indeed play a vital and influential role in their child's learning journey. They can offer educational resources, books, and tools that complement classroom learning. Their participation in school events, parent teacher conferences and volunteering in school activities helps them stay informed and updated.

GREEN INSIGHTS

Shri. Matadin

DT's Diya Bajaj caught up with Shri. Matadin, gardener at the school.
Excerpts:

आपके रोज़ के हिसाब किताब में क्या क्या काम आ जाते है?

- पौधों में पानी डालते है , गमले लगाते है, कियारिओं में पौधे लगाते है, मशीन चलायी, वह ग्राउंड में गए वह मशीन चलाते है, सफाई होगयी , कूड़ा फेकवाना, ये सब होता है काम। इस सबसे अलग भी काफ़ी काम है जैसे कभी कबार इस नई इमारत के पास ठेकेदारी करना तथा इन लोगो की मदद करना

कितने साल से आप यहाँ काम कर रहे है?

- ३५ साल तो हो गए |

आपका अनुभव कैसा रहा है यहाँ पर ?

-इतने समय से यहाँ पर काम करते हुए मेरे को बोहोत अच्छा लगा है अभी तक मुझे कोई परेशानी नहीं हुई है इतने सालों तक। यहाँ पर काफ़ी पारिवारिक माहौल है, यहाँ के बच्चे अर्थात यहाँ के अध्यापक दोनों काफ़ी अध्ययनशील है। आपको यहाँ का माहौल कैसा लगा?

-यहाँ का माहौल बहुत अच्छा है, बच्चे भी बहुत अच्छे है और यहाँ नयी बिल्डिंग बनने से और अच्छा हो जायेगा. कुल मिलके बढ़िया है

और मेरी रिटायरमेंट मैं सिर्फ 15 महीने बचे हैं मुझे इस जगह की बहुत याद आयेगी, मैं फिर भी कभी कबार इधर सबसे मिलने आया करूँगा।

THE ETERNAL NATURE

Oh, nature's beauty, vast and wide,
A symphony of sights and sounds.
From mountain peaks to ocean tides,
Your magic all around.

The forest's green, the sky so blue,
The birdsong fills the air.
The flowers bloom, the rivers flow,
Your wonders everywhere.

NATURE ISN'T LOVED

Nature and its palette of whims
Nature and each of its flings
With a single stroke can paint a man
In golden glee or a dull tan

Nature is a wanted foe and a friend
Nature has honour and gets under the skin with consent

But nature is melancholic
Her beauty's imprisoned in a glass
So, she weeps and weeps away
At dusk and dawn each day

Nature offers joy to all her sham admirers
But they are blinded by her palette of colours
painting the ground and sky each hour

Nature is an attention seeker
Now her essence is just growing weaker
Nature wants to be felt
Nature wants to be preserved as art
Nature wants to be a foul weather friend
Nature's loved but never truly at all.

SCHOOL LIFE

School is a daily routine for us

For which we always make fuss Even if the milk is not in the cup.

Mom shouts: Its 6, Wake up

Late a second, we have to run, Hair not combed;
nails undone. We reach class, see our friends,
Finally a place where torture ends

We have a talk, and go with flow

Suddenly bell rings, it's time to go.

We sometimes find school stressful,

To have some fun, we bend rules.

Many see a school as a torture chamber. Few cannot wait for the holidays in December But it is how we look at school. Honestly school is cool!

MYSTERIOUS ENTITY

The human being, it's a mysterious entity--
Not to be judged on how it looks on the outside,
Rather, the everlasting fire of will,
That burns within the body,
Should be cherished, and when it is--
It will bloom like the flame lily.
And the realisation will strike,
That it is not on the surface what matters,
But the core encapsulating true strength.

MEET THE COACH

“I encourage open communication and feedback from students.”

DT's Kavyanjali caught up with TGT PE & Sports, Ms. Barkha Chauhan for a Q&A Session.

Excerpts:

Ms Barkha Chauhan

What ignited your desire to pursue a career as a sports teacher, and what aspect of your job do you find most fulfilling?

My journey into becoming a sports teacher was sparked by my profound love for sports and physical activity. From a young age, I recognized the transformative power of sports in one's life, witnessing the numerous benefits it brings, from enhancing physical well-being to fostering qualities like teamwork, discipline, and personal growth.

How do you ensure that your sports classes effectively meet the diverse needs of your students while also delivering a valuable sports education?

I aim to cultivate a culture of sports and physical fitness by offering extracurricular opportunities, such as sports clubs, intramural leagues, and special events. These avenues will not only enable students to explore their athletic interests but also connect them with like-minded peers, enriching their overall experience.
